

CASTLEMAN ESTATE PAPERS ARE STOLEN

Attorney's Desk Pried Open Thursday Afternoon.

CASE REPLETE WITH MYSTERY.

NO ONE SAW THE THIEF LEAVE THE BUILDING.

Castleman Brothers Are at War in Court and Papers Are Important as Evidence, It Is Stated.

Attorney Benjamin T. Castleman reported to the police Friday morning the theft of $300 in notes and valuable papers to a $5000 estate left by his mother, Mrs. Sallie W. Castleman, which he says were stolen from his office at 417 Pine street between 3 and 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

The culprit pried open Mr. Castleman's desk wherein a value containing the documents was found. The desk was littered with other papers and some checks, but none of them were taken.

The case is replete with mystery. No one saw the person leave the building and Mr. Castleman has no idea what interest an outsider could have in his family's legal affairs.

The notes, he says, would not be negotiable without his signature; but if they are not returned he says he is out just that much money.

Courts Have

Estate in Hand.

The Castleman estate has been the subject of bitter litigation between R. H. Castleman and his brother, Benjamin T., for two years. The former has instituted two suits against his brother which will come up for trial shortly at Fayette, Mo.

Without the papers at hand Attorney Castleman declares he will be seriously handicapped.

The Castleman property, which consists mostly of real estate, was originally bequeathed to Mrs. Castleman by her father, Robert G. Harrison, former speaker of the Missouri House of Representatives.

He died in 1868.

To his widow he left a one-half life interest in his estate, but Mrs. Harrison was unsatisfied with this provision and elected to have her share in cash.

She died shortly afterwards and her action in renouncing her husband's will was not called to the attention of the circuit attorney until her estate was filed for probate.

The daughter, Sallie, thereupon came into possession of all her parents' property.

Benjamin

Given Control.

In 1884 Mrs. Castleman conveyed to her son, Benjamin T. Castleman, a deed giving him virtual control of her realty holdings.

Two years later R. H. Castleman made a deed of conveyance of his prospective interests to one Rutherford, for a consideration of about $1000. Rutherford, who acted on behalf of the family, retransferred this deed to Benjamin Castleman.

Mrs. Castleman's death occurred two years ago. By the terms of her will Attorney Castleman became the beneficiary of her entire estate.

His brother, Robert, then filed two suits, one to set aside the deed of conveyance made by Mrs. Castleman in 1884 and the second to test the validity of his mother's action in assuming ownership of all her parents' estate.

The contention was that the grandfather had intended as also his grandmother that the property should revert jointly to the children at her death.

There are a score of fine legal points bearing on the controversy and it would take a Philadelphia lawyer to straighten out the perplexing issues.

But all of the documents, practically, save those on file at Fayette, are now missing and further difficulties are in prospect of the late Judge Castleman.

Papers Hard to Replace.

"It would take an immense amount of work," said Attorney Castleman to the Post-Dispatch Friday, "to replace many of the documents taken and some of them could not be fixed up at any cost."

"To an amended petition to one of the suits filed by my brother, I have made $25000. I have retained the value in the value when it was taken."

"The missing notes were negotiable in equity proceedings, but I doubt if they can be redeemed in any other way, even if forgery is resorted to."

"The documents include original copies of my grandfather and grandmother's and mother's will and date back over 20 years."

"I always kept them in the vault."

"When I left the office yesterday afternoon I walked over to the Courthouse, where I remained about two hours in the law library."

"I put the value on my desk and pulled down the roller."

"The door of the office, however, was open."

"When I returned the desk was open and an abridgment in the wood near the locker showed it had been forced."

"The value was missing. I instituted a rigid inquiry about the building, but no one saw any body leave with a value."

"I have notified Chief Kiley, and expect results pretty soon."

SNOW SIX INCHES DEEP FORECASTED

DR. HYATT SAYS IT MAY BE EVEN HEAVIER THAN THAT.

DUE TONIGHT AND SATURDAY.

Mercury to Stay in the Twenties, and No Prospect of Spring Weather.

Dr. Hyatt says there is going to be a real old-fashioned Missouri snowstorm, such as we used to have in this state when we were boys and girls—a snow that will come up to the top of the boots we used to wear when we went to the little red schoolhouse at Popson's Corner.

Dr. Hyatt says that the forecast is for a snow of six inches deep—maybe deeper—will be this snow, the weather man thinks, and it is to open its show Friday afternoon and give a continuous performance Friday night and Saturday.

If this snow comes as forecasted it will be the deepest of the season, and there will be sledding, sleighing and sliding for days to come, for there is no prospect of warmer weather.

Dr. Hyatt says that Johnny Jones and sister Sue may get their sleds and bobs ready for merry sport.

Already it is snowing all around us. In Kansas City and Springfield, Mo., in Cairo, Ill., and in Iowa the white flakes are falling.

There is a high barometer over the upper Mississippi and the lake regions and a low one over the lower Mississippi.

The temperature at 7 o'clock Friday morning was 24 degrees, a rise of 6 degrees in 24 hours.

Dr. Hyatt says that during the snowstorm the mercury will remain in the 20s.

THE WEATHER INDICATIONS.

HEAVY SNOW.

The weather indications for St. Louis and vicinity are heavy snow Friday afternoon, Friday night and Saturday; Saturday partly cloudy with snow in east; brisk to high northerly winds; Illinois and Indiana—Snow Friday night and Saturday; heavy in south portion; increasing northerly winds.

Nebraska—Partly cloudy Friday night and Saturday; variable winds.

Iowa—Snowing Friday night, with possibly snow in east and central portions; Saturday, partly cloudy; north to east winds.

Kansas—Partly cloudy Friday night, with possible snow in east; Saturday fair; northerly winds.

RABID SPEECH STARTLES HOUSE CUPID RODE DOWN LAMI HILL SLIDE

Wheeler of Kentucky Excoriates Then Homer Caught Traded His Knife for a Sleigh.

DENOUNCES SECRETARY HAY. STERN PARENT NOW RELENTS.

"THAT PITTABLE FLUNKY IN THE STATE DEPARTMENT."

Words of Contempt for Those Who Will Attend Edward's Coronation and "European Maniacs" Who Want to See the "Little Dutchman."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—During the debate upon a pension bill, Mr. Wheeler of Kentucky startled the House by a speech denouncing the attitude of the administration and the state department in connection with what he determined the "recent exposure of the attitude of Great Britain" toward the United States.

Mr. Wheeler excoriated what he termed the modern disposition toward "European flunkiness." Until 1886, he said, all Americans had gloried in the splendid isolation of the republic and its determination to hold aloof from foreign entangling alliances. Less than five years ago, he declared, a President, "egged on by the pitiable flunkies in the state department," had stretched his arms across the seas in addition to the people of Great Britain, and today the government was hugging to its bosom a nation that since the battle of Yorktown had systematically and persistently plotted our downfall. He declared that the "shoulder-strapped gold lace flunkies" who were to be dispatched across the Atlantic to bend the knee to and kiss the hand of the English King whose government, he declared, had attempted to form a coalition with European governments to thwart us while we were seeking to strike the shackles from Cuba.

Honest, straightforward American diplomacy, he declared, has given way to European diplomacy. He said he respected the present occupant of the White House. He was, he said, too straightforward for many of his party colleagues, slightly Quixotic, perhaps, and hasty tempered, but honest and brave enough, he thought, to "boot out" that man in the state department who had brought us to this humiliating position.

Turning to England's war in South Africa, he denounced her tyranny and said that he had in it a shining example of material to be shipped from our shores.

If half that "this man" was true, he declared, he ought to be shipped across the water, and "the flunkies" who were "flunking" him, he declared, that a member of the President's family was to attend the coronation of the King of the Netherlands. He said he considered it "most unbecomingly unbecoming" and to be lamented by every liberty-loving American. "It was but another link in the chain."

Mr. Wheeler then turned to the prospective visit of Prince Henry. With a gesture of contempt he declared that the "European maniacs" were "falling over each other" to see the "little Dutchman."

There were a thousand Americans following the plover, he said, who were "as honest and as noble as the life."

"Why," he asked, "should the American people give heed to this flunkiness of the present administration. We should treat our visitors politely, but why fall down and worship them?"

The whole house was aroused by Mr. Wheeler's philippic. Several times the Democratic speaker interrupted him, but he was concluding Mr. Grosvenor of Ohio asked if Mr. Wheeler had been living at the time of the visit of Lafayette as the representative of the King of France, whether he was certain of the date of the reception accorded the Frenchman by Washington.

"I should have been proud to receive the Marquis de Lafayette," replied Mr. Wheeler. "He helped to fight for our liberties." Democratic cheers greeted his remarks.

Mr. Boutelle vigorously defended the head of the state department. "No man in recent years," he said, "has reflected so much credit upon our diplomatic affairs as he. He referred especially to the Chinese crisis and said his acts throughout that time had won the commendation of the world."

The excitement then subsided and consideration of the pension bill was resumed.

MISSING CHILD AN HEIRESS

Mrs. Hunter of Springfield, Mo., Is Searching for Her Daughter, Kidnaped by Her Husband.

DENVER, Colo., Feb. 14.—Mrs. Kathryn Hunter of Springfield, Mo., is here, searching for her child, who was kidnaped five years ago by her husband. He is Edward Hunter, a Chicago sporting man.

Mrs. Hunter says that her daughter is the heiress to a fortune valued at $100,000. The estate is in the hands of a trustee and cannot be used unless the child is produced.

The mother, who is a dashing brunette, 32 years old, bought the up her child of the police. She is a daughter of Col. John Feltow of Springfield, Mo. By an uncle's given $100,000 and it is alleged that Hunter, in order to secure the child, was paid $10,000 and the interest, which was paid payable to the mother until the child was 18, fled with Blanche.

CONSCIENCE WAS HIS ACCUSER

James Leonard of Hondo, Tex., After Eighteen Years of Torture, Tells of a Murder.

ALBUQUERQUE, Tex., Feb. 14.—The stings of conscience have been too much for James Leonard, and after 18 years of life as an honored and respected citizen of Hondo, Tex., he has confessed to the murder of a man at Princeton, Cal. Eighteen years ago he attempted to hold up and rob a saloon at Princeton, Cal. The proprietor, named Chas. Hertz, killed the proprietor, named Chas. Hertz, and Leonard fled and located at Hondo. This state, where he has led a modest and upright life.

During all these years he has been conscience-stricken over the crime committed in California, and this weighed so heavily upon his mind that he has now made a full confession of the crime to the district attorney of Nevada County.

Acting upon this confession, the officers of Calaveras County, Cal., were communicated with and in investigation was instituted, which resulted in Leonard's arrest. He was held up and murder being verified in every particular, Governor Stanford, by a resolution of the board of California, for the return of Leonard to the scene of the murder, where he will stand trial for the crime.

LIBERTY'S LIGHT PUT OUT

For Lack of Funds the Torch in Hands of Bartholdi's Statue Will Be Extinguished.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Liberty's torch is to be put out. The lofty light in the hand of the bronze goddess, standing on Bedloe Island, in upper New York bay, that has been allowed to grow steadily dimmer since Bartholdi gave the magnificent statue to the United States, is to be permanently extinguished. Sentimentalists, who have kept the beacon burning all these years, can no longer keep it alight, and now the government will snuff it out for good.

The news of the contemplated extinguishing of the torch has been received here in the form of a notice to mariners, sent out by the light-house board of the treasury department at Washington. It states that on or about March 1, 1902, the light will be discontinued.

Installed on the island to furnish current for the torch, there is a powerful electric plant. It is a small power house, but it is so small that the beacon can be made out by the light of the torch. A small power house, but it is so small that the beacon can be made out by the light of the torch. A small power house, but it is so small that the beacon can be made out by the light of the torch.

At a meeting of the Board of Trade Thursday night in the Century building, resolutions were adopted regarding the conduct of Circuit Attorney Folk and the grand jury.

FOLK WILL PROSECUTE ALL CASES IN PERSON.

Circuit Attorney Folk said Friday morning that he intends to appear in person as the prosecutor of all the bribery and perjury cases which have developed and may develop in connection with the grand jury's investigation of municipal legislative deals.

Mr. Folk, of course, will have the aid of his corps of assistants.

John K. Murrell, under indictment for bribery, is still reported to be very ill at his home, and there is a doubt as to whether he will be able to appear for his trial next Monday, for which the circuit attorney has secured a special jury.

Furniture Board Indorses Mr. Folk.

THE TRUTH WILL OUT IN ENGLAND

Diplomatic Steps Preceding the War With Spain.

PAUNCEFOTE WAS INSISTENT.

ADVISED A FIRM NOTE TO THE UNITED STATES.

In Every Detail Facts Show the British
Minister to Have Been a
Close Friend of the Spanish Government.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—That Lord Pauncefote has said nothing concerning his part in the exciting days before our war with Spain in the face of Germany's revelations has surprised those not directly connected with the diplomatic negotiations. To his intimates Lord Pauncefote insists that anything he said must be said by the British foreign office.

There are now in Washington three other men who were present at all the diplomatic conferences here—Jules Cambon, the French ambassador, Dr. H. Hollebeek, the German ambassador, and Baron Henckell, minister from Austria-Hungary. The remaining members of this international conference in 1898 were Greigore de Wolant, chargé d'affaires of Russia, and Count Vinet, chargé d'affaires of Spain. Count Vinet had not yet arrived in this country, and Baron Pava was absent.

Application to the diplomats who were in this country and who know what actually took place at those conferences, developed the following facts:

The Pauncefote, or preliminary negotiations, leading to the presentation of the note of April 7, then generally referred to as an "Easter visit," were long and many. The envoys met more than once, and there was written correspondence. During this time Lord Pauncefote argued strongly that the language of the note should be firm and decisive and, while advisory, should not be a war against the United States. The enormity of a war against Spain was not to be lightly suggested.

Dr. Von Hollebeek suggested that Germany had already advised the Spanish government that she could not take any stand between her and the United States. Count Vinet was willing to sign any note agreed upon unanimously.

M. Cambon and Baron Henckell Muller argued for the strongest possible diplomatic suggestion, but in all this Lord Pauncefote was the leader, and his consent to the incriminating note was gained reluctantly.

M. de Wolant even hesitated to sign any note or memorandum, and the consent of Russia was only obtained after the exact wording of the epistle was reported to St. Petersburg.

On the day after the presentation of the note of April 7 it was stated at the German embassy and by the charge d'affaires of Russia and Italy that European efforts for intervention were ended.

When the rumors of the second attempt at the meeting of April 14 were bruited here every diplomat connected with the affair asserted that the prime overtures came from Lord Pauncefote, and the matter became such a subject of diplomatic gossip that Dr. Von Hollebeek was obliged to publish a long interview combating attacks upon Germany. He called attention to this interview today, and said he had nothing to add.

He said then: "Coming to a subject of later development and more momentous import, the attitude of Germany toward the United States during the late war with Spain, I can say with perfect trust and frankness that, notwithstanding all that has been said to the contrary, there was never a moment when this government thought for an instant that Germany was otherwise than friendly and well-disposed."

He also called attention to the fact that William R. Hay, while secretary of state and during the hostilities, had given the press a specific statement that Germany had been persistently and consistently friendly to the United States.

The present controversy was precipitated because these efforts to prevent attacks upon Germany were without effect.

It is stated freely here that if the present controversy continues to continue its course, the full correspondence and conversations concerning these matters will be made public, and that the facts could be published without a direct violation of diplomatic reserve or secrecy.

PREACHER EASILY FOUND WORK

Rev. Dr. Steiner Got a Job as a Day
Laborer in One of the Many Shops of Sandusky.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SANDUSKY, O., Feb. 14.—Clad in overalls and jumper Rev. Dr. Edward Steiner, the laborer-preacher who has become famous because he devoted a week to newspapers as a reporter in order to learn to know them as they are, applied at the works of the George R. Butler Manufacturing Co. to work carrying lumber from the dry kiln to wagons. Dr. Steiner worked at this until noon, when he conducted a meeting in the shop, addressing more than 100 men. He told them of his travels, and then asked them to join his work and troubles. During the day he was approached by a man who did not know him, and asked him to join the Methodist Union. When the subject was explained to him, he agreed to join at once, if no more relief fund. For the balance of the week Dr. Steiner will continue his work in other factories of the city.

BRANCH POSTOFFICE WANTED

Business Men's League Considering
Request for Indorsement of Barthold's Bill in Congress.

Postmaster Baumhoff explained to a committee from the Business Men's League, Thursday afternoon, the work done in each department of the local postoffice and the need of a branch postoffice and the need of a branch postoffice.

At present, Mr. Baumhoff explained, all mail is distributed from the postoffice, sometimes causing a delay of half an hour or so in the trip to and from the station. The postmaster also gave his reasons why a fast mail should be put on the Frisco Railroad to St. Louis, and from the southwest. The Business Men's League has taken up this proposition. The new branch postoffice matter is being considered.

ROYALTY BARRED ON THE NORTH SIDE

BUSINESS MEN'S ASSOCIATION WILL NOT WELCOME PRINCE.

WISH TO ESCAPE CEREMONIES.

Motion to Extend Courtesies to the Kaiser's Brother Was Snuffed
Under by Hostile Votes.

BY A POST-DISPATCH REPORT.

A cat may look at a king, they say. With never a four or a wine, But the North St. Louis B. M. A. Refuses to look at a prince.

At St. Louis avenue Henry must pause And turn back both sadder and wiser. For north of that line he will win no approval. Nor hear "Hoch der Bruder des Kaisers!"

The North St. Louis Business Men's Association will not invite Prince Henry to be its guest on the occasion of his visit to St. Louis. This was decided by a vote taken at the meeting of the association at North St. Louis, Turner Hall Thursday night, which showed an overwhelming sentiment against the proposal to honor the Kaiser's brother.

Henry Studnicka, former member of the Board of Education, voiced the opposition to entertaining the prince and his entourage. "North St. Louis contains many persons of German birth and descent," said Mr. Studnicka. "Many of them are represented in this association."

"Why did these men and women and their parents come to America? Was it not for the purpose of escaping all this bowing and scraping and fawning to royalty?"

"Why should we have men with titles flocked on us as guests or seek their company?"

Great applause followed the speech, and the original motion was buried beneath an avalanche of hostile votes.

After disposing of royalty, the association indorsed the Municipal Railway franchise bill, stipulating that the promoters should not sell out to either of the existing street railway companies.

The meeting also passed a resolution against the removal of the waterworks. It was voted to hold a smoker next Thursday night.

SMUGGLED IN AFTER NIGHT.

Chinese Brought Into Northwest by The Wholesale.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Feb. 14.—The smuggling of Chinese from British Columbia continues and a number have been recently landed on the numerous islands between here and the British possessions. The approach of the fishing season has caused a revival of Chinese smuggling, and, according to reports received here, they are being brought over in sloops, sailing from the British side at night, and then being taken to the islands where they remain until darkness, when they continue to their destination. The revenue cutter Grant has been cruising among the islands to overhaul every sloop, and she has sailed for the purpose of assisting the two revenue launches, Steamer and Guard, to stop the smuggling of Chinese.

FRIED ONIONS

Indirectly Caused the Death of the World's Greatest General.

It is a matter of history that Napoleon was a gourmand, an inordinate lover of the good things of the table, and history further records that his favorite dish was fried onions; his death from cancer of stomach, it is claimed also, was probably caused from his excessive indulgence in this fondness for the odoriferous vegetable.

The onion is undoubtedly a wholesome article of food, in fact has many medicinal qualities of value, but it would be difficult to find a more indigestible article than fried onions, and to many people they are simply poison. But the onion does not stand alone in this respect. Any article of food that is not thoroughly digested becomes a source of disease and discomfort whether it be fried onions or beefsteak.

The reason why any wholesome food is not promptly digested is because the stomach lacks some important element of digestion, some stomachic lack, peptone, others are deficient in gastric juice, still others lack hydrochloric acid.

The one thing necessary to do in any case of poor digestion is to supply those elements of digestion which the stomach lacks, and nothing does this so thoroughly and safely as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Dr. Richardson in writing a thesis on treatment of dyspepsia and indigestion closes his remarks by saying, "for those suffering from acid dyspepsia, shown by sour, watery risings, or for flatulent dyspepsia shown by gas on stomach, causing heart trouble and difficult breathing, as well as for all other forms of stomach trouble, the safest treatment is to take one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal. I advise people because they contain no harmful drugs, but are composed of valuable digestives, which act promptly upon the food eaten. I never knew a case of indigestion or even chronic dyspepsia which Stuart's Tablets would not reach."

Cheap cathartic medicines claiming to cure dyspepsia and indigestion can have no effect whatever in actively digesting the food, and to call any cathartic medicine a cure for indigestion is a misnomer. Every druggist in the United States and Canada sells Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and they are not only the safest and most successful, but the most scientific of any treatment for indigestion and stomach troubles.

Stuart's Tablets would not reach."

A PITHY STATEMENT.

Mr. E. H. Wolff of Wolff-Wilson Drug Co. Gives An Apt Illustration.

His Views on Vinol Worth Learning.

This Is the Preparation That Is Being Much Talked About.

A reporter asked Mr. Wolff the same question that hundreds have asked him in the last few days. "Just tell me precisely, please, why Vinol is better than cod liver oil?"

"Mr. Wolff replied in his genial way. 'You have given me a rather difficult task. I can explain to you in a few minutes the advantages of Vinol, but to do it in a half dozen words would hardly be possible. Perhaps I can illustrate its value, however, in a brief manner. Suppose you had never seen a hen's egg. A man who knew of them would tell you to eat three every day. I do not say that you would, mind you, but I am inclined to believe at the start you would make an heroic effort to do so. You would take the whole thing, shell and all. The meat of the egg would be what you needed, the shell rather superfluous. In fact, as a matter of nourishment not quite the thing for your stomach.'

"There you are with cod liver oil. In it you have a medicine, or rather in the liver of a live cod there is a medicine known to be valuable for certain forms of wasting disease, a great reconstructive. Doctors have administered it to patients. They were like the man who had never seen an egg before. They gave it to their patients just as they found it, shell and all. Yes, that is exactly it. The grease was useless and as bad for the stomach as the shell. The cod liver oil was the shell of the egg. The kernel, or the meat of the remedy, the vital principles that they were after, were contained in it. Science has stepped in and done exactly what the man with the egg might have done—found a way to separate the healthful interior from the worthless husk."

"Now we have the active medical principles of the cod's liver. We have thrown away the useless encumbrances that formerly encloaked it, namely, the objectionable fat. We have taken this extract, placed it in a delicious table wine, and there you are. Patients who have needed cod liver oil and could not take it have no trouble in taking Vinol. Why, you would enjoy drinking it yourself, so pleasant is it, if I did not tell you it was anything but a mild table wine. If you needed it, however, for a medicine, you would soon find it to be something different. The medicinal properties of the cod's liver had damage done by diseases that are of a wasting nature, and the same principles give strength to the weakened digestion and enable the poor sufferer's worn out stomach to digest and obtain nutriment from every food. These same principles are also active disease germ annihilators."

"Yes, I am glad to have you come any time that you care to learn anything more about Vinol. It has already proved itself to be a winner."

WAH LEE WEDS A "MELICAN" GIRL

FORMER ST. LOUIS MISSIONARY IS NOW WILLIAM HEAD.

HAS DROPPED ORIENTAL HABITS

Met and Courted Miss Ward, a Kansas
City Manufacturer's Daughter,
While Doing Church Work.

Wah Lee, a former Christian missionary among the Chinese of St. Louis and well known in local missionary circles, was married Thursday in Seattle, Wash., to Miss Jessie Ward, the daughter of a former Kansas City manufacturer.

Lee has abandoned all his Oriental traditions and even his Chinese name and is now known as William Head. While still prominent in church work among his countrymen in Seattle he finds time to manage a lucrative tea and dry goods business.

After leaving St. Louis Head went to Kansas City and there met Miss Ward. He is a member of the Presbyterian Church and the Wards were prominent in religious work.

From Kansas City Head went to Seattle and two years ago the Wards moved there also.

Old social relations were resumed and Head interested Miss Ward so much in the spiritual welfare of the Chinese that she consented to teach a Chinese Sunday school. The friendship between the two ripened into mutual love and with the full consent of the girl's parents an engagement was entered into.

Head is a graduate of Yale and a striking type of the Chinese aristocrat.

FORMER MAYOR'S ADHERENTS
BARRED FROM CLUB MEETING.

POLICE ESCORT WAS ASKED.

Ninth Ward Republican Organization
Divided, Majority Opposing
"Uncle Henry."

Partisans of Henry Ziegenhein were the victims of a lockout Thursday night at the meeting of the Ninth Ward Republican League Club, the official party organization in the former mayor's home ward.

After being excluded from the meeting by the club in Concordia Turner Hall, on the ground that they did not possess membership tickets, the Ziegenhein factionaries held a meeting of their own in another room of the same building, and elected their own officers.

The hall was broken up, Police Sergeant Doddridge, who was present, was asked by some of the Ziegenheinists for a police escort to their homes.

The Ziegenhein factionaries, led by Edward Bauman and Charles Pickett, were barred from the clubroom and stood outside until the meeting place was vacated.

After being excluded from the meeting by the club in Concordia Turner Hall, on the ground that they did not possess membership tickets, the Ziegenhein factionaries held a meeting of their own in another room of the same building, and elected their own officers.

TO ERECT A PARISH HOUSE.

St. Peter's Episcopal Parish Will Begin on Needed Improvements.

As most of the subscriptions of the fund that was subscribed for repairing the heavy damage of the St. Peter's Episcopal church, now paid in, it is likely that new improvements will be attempted.

It is the great desire of the rector, Rev. William Short, that a parish house shall be added to the church, and the structure seems quite necessary to accommodate the numerous societies and philanthropic interests of the church.

A disposition seems to be manifest in the parish to undertake the work as soon as possible, and a short time work for the proposed improvement will begin.

CITY LAW DEPARTMENT IS TRYING TO FIND A WAY.

JANITOR TAYLOR STILL WORKS.

A New Bill, Creating the Office of City Bacteriologist, Will Be Introduced in the Assembly.

The city law department is hunting for a way to the settlement of the damage suits filed against the city by the parents of children who died from the use of city antitoxin.

Henry Taylor, janitor, who was sentenced by the Board of Health to be discharged for his conflicting statements made during the tetanus inquiry, was at his work Thursday, but Dr. Bachmann, city chemist, said that he would probably be dismissed Friday.

A new bill, creating the office of city bacteriologist, will soon be introduced into the Municipal Assembly. Until such a measure is passed the position which has been made vacant by the dismissal of Dr. Andrew David, charged with responsibility for the distribution of the poisonous and fatal antitoxin, will probably not be filled.

Health Commissioner Starkoff says the city must employ someone to supervise bacteriological work. Even without the matter of diphtheria antitoxin, which the city has discontinued, there is much work in the bacteriological line to be done. One task is the examination of vaccine virus before distribution.

ROBBERS SUSPECTS ARRAIGNED.

Hearing of Meyer and Sarginac Set for Next Thursday.

The hearing of Charles Meyer and Sylvester L. Sarginac, who were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Wangelin Thursday, accused of robbing the National Stock Yards Bank, was set for next Thursday, on the charge of burglary and larceny.

The bonds of the prisoners were fixed at $500 and being unable to raise that amount they were remanded to jail. The men declare that they are innocent, but refuse to discuss the charges against them.

CORN
SUSTAINED LOSSES

GRAIN MARKETS RECEIVED LITTLE SPECULATIVE SUPPORT.

TRADING WAS VERY LIGHT.

Wheat and Corn Lost Portion of Yesterday's Gains, Closing at the Lowest.

The future grain markets got very little support today and portions of yesterday's gains were lost. There were no more bullish wheat reports from the southwest. Speculators who bought yesterday took profits today.

The weather map showed heavy snow in Kansas, Missouri and southern Illinois. Temperatures over the west were moderate. A heavy snowfall is predicted in the states east of the Mississippi river where wheat has been needing moisture.

There was little export buying today to give the wheat market strength. Absence of outside buying encouraged the speculator to sell freely. The wheat and corn movement was very light today. Foreign cables were disappointing.

May wheat opened a shade off 88c, sold up to 88 1/2c and declined closing with a loss of 1/2c at 88c. May corn opened 2 1/2c, sold up to 2 3/4c, closed down to 2 1/4c and declined to 2 1/2c.

The Argentine wheat shipments last week were 470,000 bu., compared with 588,000 in the previous week and 850,000 a year ago. The output of four northern wheat mills was 342,900 bushels, compared with 344,700 bushels the previous week and 538,000 bushels a year ago.

The wheat movement was very light. Minneapolis and Duluth received only 200 cars, 152 less than the same date last year. The previous week 18,400 cars. Primary receipts were 143,800 bu. less than a year ago. There was almost no export trade today and the clearance was 203,000 bu.

May wheat opened a shade off 88c, sold up to 88 1/2c and declined closing with a loss of 1/2c at 88c. May corn opened 2 1/2c, sold up to 2 3/4c, closed down to 2 1/4c and declined to 2 1/2c.

July wheat opened at 78c, and remained about the same. When May sold down this option declined to 78c, which was the same as last year. Shipments, 70,950 bu., compared with 174,000 bu. same date last year.

Receipts of wheat at Minneapolis and Duluth were 230 cars, as compared with 421 cars same date last year. May wheat sold today at 88c, 88 1/2c, 89c, 89 1/2c, 90c, 90 1/2c, 91c, 91 1/2c, 92c, 92 1/2c, 93c, 93 1/2c, 94c, 94 1/2c, 95c, 95 1/2c, 96c, 96 1/2c, 97c, 97 1/2c, 98c, 98 1/2c, 99c, 99 1/2c, 100c,
